Installation of Beta Omega

BETA OMEGA, UNDERGRADUATE CHARTER MEMBERS

The Newest Theta College

COLORADO COLLEGE, the oldest institution of higher education in the state, was founded in 1874 at Colorado Springs. In these early years, while Colorado was still a territory, the Congregational denomination, so famous for building colleges, gave its sanction and help to this college established on a broad Christian foundation. At the present time there is no denominational control for this privately controlled co-educational college.

The college is a delightful small college, with its enrollment limited to one thousand and its entering class to three hundred. During the year ending June, 1931, there were six-hundred-forty-seven students; three-hundred-forty-nine, men; two-hundred-ninety-eight, women.

The sixteen buildings owned by the college are beautifully situated on a fifty acre campus—one of the outstanding buildings from an architectural point of view is the stately Shove Memorial chapel, dedicated November 1931. The property and equipment is valued at $1,495,000, and the college has an endowment of $2,475,000.

In an outline of the new college plan at Colorado college, President C. C. Mierow says: "Colorado college has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the leading liberal arts colleges of its type in America. But we are now living in what is perhaps the most rapidly changing period in history as regards the theory and practice of education; and no school or college, however distinguished its past, can afford to rest on its laurels. In order to vindicate anew its claim to leadership, Colorado college must make its own contribution to American educational readjustment.

"It was, therefore, on the basis of such considerations and with the purpose of redefining the legitimate objectives of the liberal arts college and of estimating the extent to which Colorado college has attained its ideals, that the Board of trustees approximately a year ago invited Dr Henry Suzzallo, president of the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching, and Chancellor Samuel Paul Capen of the University of Buffalo, to conduct a survey for the college. At their suggestion, the trustees authorized the faculty of the college to undertake a self-survey of the situation under the expert guidance and advice of this official Policy advisory committee.

"In consequence of the information obtained from the self-survey and in accordance with the advice of the Policy advisory committee, a number of changes were recommended by the faculty of Colorado college and were formally ratified by vote of the Board of trustees."

Among these changes was action on national women's fraternities. February 1, 1932, the four societies organized for years were allowed to petition nationals. Delta Gamma was first to grant a charter, to Minerva. At the two national conventions of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Kappa Alpha Theta in June, charters were granted to Hypatia and Contemporary club, respectively. Kappa Alpha Theta installed Contemporary club as its Beta Omega chapter September 1-3.

It is our hope that the policy of our fraternity will fit in with the fine spirit of the new plan now in use at Colorado college.

Looking Backward

KAPPA ALPHA THETA has a fine new chapter in Colorado college called Beta Omega. Until September 3 this Theta baby was known as Contemporary club with a well established reputation and a worthy alumnae group. A short résumé of its history gives us a picture of its desirability.

The local club was organized in 1899 by a small group of girls who first called themselves the Ten-pins. Later, of course, they became the Contemporary club. One of the charter members became a Theta in September with the rest of the charter members of Beta Omega.

Through the years the club has flourished—and always has stood for high scholarship. When Contemporary became Kappa Alpha Theta it had 500 alumnae, 350 of whom had degrees from Colorado college. Among their alumnae are many members wearing the Phi Beta Kappa key. On their list they have seven Deans of women of different colleges scattered over the country. In fact the Dean of women at their own Colorado college is a Contemporary.

The alumnae were organized and had annual meetings in Colorado Springs. Every two years they put out a bulletin giving a list of members, news of any special honors that any of them had received. The last one issued 1927-29 told, among other things, that the Contemporary club had won the right to keep the Skelton painting in their club house, that this made the fifth consecutive year that Contemporary club had taken the scholarship honors on campus!

The present group on campus are keeping up the old reputation. They are still winning scholarship honors as well as holding many important campus offices. Last year in their group were two Phi Beta Kappas, the president of W.A.A., president of Ticknor hall, secretary of Associated women students, Tiger club secretary, treasurer of Associated women students, Tiger club treasurer, head of archery, lead in college play, as well as the Perkins scholarship for the highest average in Colorado college for freshman and sophomore years.

In addition to this inspiring list of honors and activities they hold, they are a charming group of young girls that every one of you would like to meet and know better. They are now working to keep up their old reputation and add new laurels for Kappa Alpha Theta. KATHERINE A. WEAVER

Facts and Figures

I NITIATED into Beta Omega at installation, September 1-3, were forty alumnae of Contemporary club and sixteen members who were active at the time the charter was granted. Alumnae came to Colorado Springs from distant places to become charter members of their new chapter—Elizabeth Sutton Brown and Lillian Degenfelder, California; Harriet Mason and Mary K. Leonard, New York; Sharley Kathleen Pike, Missouri; Dorliska C. Hannan, South Dakota; Marguerite Knutson Graham, New Mexico; and from Wyoming Esther Rockafield. There were twenty-one alumnae charter members from Colorado outside of Colorado Springs.

Among the Contemporary alumnae initiates into Theta were two Deans of women: Gladys C. Bell of Denver university and Sharley Kathleen Pike, Northwest Missouri state teachers college at Maryville, Missouri. Miss Clare McCoy another initiate was a charter member of Contemporary.

Each chapter in District V was represented by one or more delegates. Kathleen Asher was here from Kappa; Patricia Stewart from Alpha Upsilon; Lura Lou Wallace from Rho; Eloise Griffin, Ida Marie Lorang and Maxine Hartner from Beta Iota; Beth Mitton, Dorothy Evans, Katherine Clayton, Betty Portner, Helen Prout, and Marie Hanfield from Beta Gamma. Alpha Mu did not send a delegate but was represented quite adequately by having two of its alumnae among the installing officers, Mrs Wright and Mrs Carroll

Additional Thetas from Boulder and the state came to Colorado Springs for the formal banquet Saturday night. Denver alumnae chapter was represented by about twenty-five members who came at different times for the installation services and social functions.

Unfortunately a large part of the planned story of Beta Omega's installation went astray in the mails, so it may be continued in the next issue.

Spokane Panhellenic

THE combined efforts of Gladys Evans Guilbert (Mrs David C.), Kappa Alpha Theta, Katherine Merrin (Mrs Donald), Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Mamie Johnson, Alpha Delta Pi have given to Spokane, Washington, an organized Panhellenic affiliated with National Panhellenic. Through contact with representatives in town of every national fraternity the first meeting gathered to draft a constitution and adopt rules.

The rules concern rushing by alumnae in Spokane and provide a limit of two parties for each fraternity; parties scheduled with secretary of Panhellenic to do away with conflicts; time limit set to overcome last minute rushing; no newspaper publicity, except notices given out by the secretary of Panhellenic; a yearly meeting in May.

The benefits of the organization are to make rushing more friendly, more pleasant, and less expensive. After one most successful rushing seasons we feel proud to say that Theta, with Gladys Evans Guilbert's enthusiasm and perseverance, took the lead in organizing Panhellenic in Spokane, Washington.

Estes Convention

WAS it the smallness of the crowd, or the perfect isolation and centralization of the Stanley hotel, or the eager efficiency of the hostesses, that made this convention memorable for its intimacy and friendly informality? Whatever the cause it was a convention where Theta spirit was always in evidence.

"Carrying on" was the slogan; and the program was concerned with how Theta ideals were carrying on the aims and ends of education, and how they could be better adapted to present college conditions.

The keynote was set by Mrs Banta, in her presidential address, from which we quote a few sentences.

"To my mind the time has definitely come for the Greek world to prove its worthwhileness. Unless we are going to make ourselves indispensable factors in the academic scheme, we stand in danger of being classed as 'social luxuries.' . . . We have been advised to step up our programs from a scholastic standpoint, to stress more the development of personalities, and to prepare such extensive programs that our value cannot be doubted. . . .

"It means that you must give the future immediate attention, first, in terms of careful thought, and second, in terms of effective action. . . .

"Already we have started to answer the challenge to fortify ourselves for the future. More application to the intellectual work in the chapters is being stressed by the Interfraternity conference and the National Panhellenic. . . .

"The development of personality is being handled with earnest attention. Are we not trying to get away from the stereotyped membership to foster the all-around girl? Further, we stand ready and willing to consider our problem—to intensify our programs. We are deeply interested in fitting into the program of the university itself. . . .

"Let us be young together, savoring the sweetness of comradeship and mutual endeavor. . . . Let us, in maturity, enjoy together our widening circle of friendships, and by our concerted efforts safeguard the stability of our chapters, and through our support enlarge the usefulness of our national projects. . . . Let us grow old together, uplifted by the consciousness of younger hands that will carry our banner on to greater heights of idealism and service."

Beside refreshing ourselves and gaining new courage to face the day's problems through innumerable conferences on problems, ideas, and plans, what concrete things did we do at convention?

First, and most important, convention adopted the plan of a life membership in the fraternity to be secured through an increased national initiation fee, with a proviso for such privilege to be opened to all now initiated through a bargain rate. Thus Theta will do away with the perennial bug-bear of national dues, and, as Mrs Grasett so clearly showed by her charts, soon be provided with money to carry forward any plan it finds commendable, or, to adopt any or all of the newer methods now becoming popular in the fraternity world. [A great compliment convention gave the Grand council, when it left to its wisdom and discretion the working out of the plan's details and the decision as to when the plan should become operative—not until good times return to the world, Council assured convention.] We dare to prophesy that history will call this convention the "life membership convention," and rank it with the conventions of 1891, 1903, and 1917, as forward milestones in the fraternity's financial development.

And what are some of the newer things that this plan will provide funds to translate from dreams to realities? Chapter co-organizers; traveling secretaries; adequate clerical help for every officer; enlarged central office; a better magazine; increase in the Loan and fellowship fund, so no application for a loan need ever be refused for lack of funds; establishment of a working scholar's library in every chapter house; the making of every chapter house adequate physically, comfortable and artistic as to furnishings, a center of cultural living—those are some of the more outstanding demands today. What the future will add we can not prophesy—but once the plan becomes a fact, the money will be at hand for each demand as it arises.

Convention decided to extend its influence by chartering Contemporary club at Colorado college, which became Beta Omega chapter two months later, as told elsewhere in this issue. It also approved continued "watching" of several colleges, and attempted colonization on one campus.

The presence of Bettie Locke Hamilton, Founder, who charmed all in private conversation and delighted all by her talks in sessions and at the banquet, will remain a cherished experience for every Theta.

The delightful talk by Erma Wohlenberg Fox on her experiences in Russia, where her engineering husband is building great plants for the Soviet; Mrs Neiswanger's psychological interpretation of fraternity values; Hazel Struble's leadership of the music; Helen Waldo's cleverness as a toast-mistress; Jessie Lebrecht's serene and sane contributions to all problems and her fine talk on Loyalty; Mrs Plowman's delightful presentation of her play, The elegant gown; Martha Huffman's quiet, effective management and her humorous success in handling every contingency—these are some of the things that always come to mind when our thoughts turn back to the days at Estes.

Inventory of Chapter Finances

THE fiscal year for Theta chapters ends the last of June. The first of July I was impressed with the fact that all business concerns were taking stock. That gave me the idea that it might be of interest to have an inventory of chapter finances and see how chapters were standing the depression. The results were amazingly good. Nearly all the entries were on the asset side of the ledger. We certainly had a plus inventory!

At that time there were sixty-two chapters located "from coast to coast and from North to Southland." According to the chapters, each one was in the hardest hit section of the country. Forty of these operated houses with commissaries. Twelve had houses or lodges, where they served only occasional meals. The remaining ten had rooms or lodges for meetings.

The first entry on the asset side was that fifty-nine of these sixty-two chapters ended the year with satisfactory balances. On the other side were three chapters that had deficits. Two of these called on the fraternity for loans to tide them over. The other borrowed from its alumnae to pay the summer rent. The two who had to resort to loans from the fraternity were in widely separated sections of the country. Neither of these had suffered directly from bank failures but most of their members had. In consequence, each group had a long list of delinquent members.

Four other chapters lost money in bank failures. In spite of this discouragement they cut expenses and so managed their resources that they closed the year with a balance. All of these are either being paid their losses or are expecting to be soon.

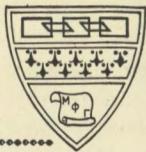

All the chapters have good credit rating in the towns where they are located. All those who own their houses have good plans of financing them and have met all payments promptly.

This good inventory has not made the chapters foolishly optimistic. They are expecting a hard year now and are making their plans accordingly. The new budgets are coming in showing reduced rates to members and all unnecessary expenses eliminated. I feel sure this year will bring another satisfactory inventory and that our chapters will have conquered the depression.

Beta Chi's Rancherette

EVERY Theta has her starry kite; every Theta has gold-hearted pansies, but, how many Thetas have a cattle-ranch all their own, and not only that, but "Mr" Prince of Wales for a neighbor?

Not so many years ago a brown-eyed Susan of a girl-baby opened her eyes in a large rambling ranch-home, known far and wide as the "Rocking P." Immediately the fairies arrived to scatter their gifts over this baby's cradle. Fortunate was she that the wicked witch who arrives at most cradles to add her modicum of selfishness and pettiness to the sweet and gentle fairies' blessings was laid up with rheumatism and was unable to visit her. The benevolent fairies scattering their blessings bestowed their gifts and departed.

Maxine Macleay, for this was the brown-eyed Susan's real name, proved that "Mr Stork" had made no mistake in leaving her on a ranch, for almost as soon as she could toddle, she was peeking through the bars of the corrals at the many thoroughbred horses and cattle. Just looking didn't satisfy her, and so, at the great age of two she had her first horseback ride perched up behind her sister on a cow-pony.

This "Rocking P" ranch where Maxine lives is situated at High River, Alberta, and is one of the largest in Western Canada, covering over thirty thousand acres of deeded land and countless others leased for grazing. It is the cynosure for cattlemen practically the whole world over, in view of the efficient manner in which it is run, and the superior grade of cattle that cover the range.

The Macleay home, a large rambling structure, nestles among the foothills. A background of trees form a perfect setting and back of it all are the majestic snow-capped mountains. Their present home is the original homestead enlarged and altered slightly as the years passed over it, but it still stands as the "hub" of a greater wheel of activity.

About eight miles northwest of the "Rocking P" lies the Prince of Wales ranch. During his sojourn there the Prince always finds the time to visit his neighbors, especially those on the Macleay homestead. Often he may be found there hunting over the range, or, after such strenuous sport, partaking of tempting refreshments with the Macleay family, on the wide verandah of their home, Mrs Macleay as charming a hostess as could be found anywhere.

Maxine's early education was entrusted to a private governess. As she grew older four years were spent in school in Calgary, Alberta, and one in school at Berkeley, California. Life on the ranch was a glamorous, thrilling experience and the holidays were spent either on it or in its vicinity. Maxine and her sister took an eager, active part in ranch life. Each summer there was a pack trip into the Livingstone mountain range, not far distant from the "Rocking P" ranch.

When Maxine had completed her last year in high school and saw almost three months of holidays ahead in which to do as she pleased, she decided to become a "Rancherette" on her own, and purchased a half-section of land and over one hundred head of cattle. There was plenty of fun, but also a great deal of work and responsibility, but she organized and ran her "lay-out" very competently, and with little assistance from those on the "Rocking P."

As the summer drew to a close, this young "Rancherette," deciding that there were no new fields to conquer for awhile in the vicinity of High river, turned her merry eyes in a northerly direction, to Edmonton, and to the university situated there. Up she came, registered and settled in good old Pembina hall.

The question of enrollment had been no problem for Maxine. She enrolled in the Faculty of agriculture, as its only woman student, and proceeded to lose herself, but only during the necessary hours, in Field crops, Dairying, and Animal husbandry. During her first year at the university she led the usual busy care-free college life which for her was full-to-the-brim with teas, dancing, sports, and rousing corridor parties which will long be remembered by the participants.

In Maxine's second year, she became a member of a local called Psi Omega. Later she became the corresponding-secretary and helped to steer the frail barque to the harbour of its dreams—Kappa Alpha Theta—so longed for by the Psi Omega crew.

From then on, the story of Maxine is the story of Beta Chi chapter. The two are practically inseparable. Everything she has done, since last September, has been with a view to furthering its growth, and making it strong and outstanding on the campus at Alberta's university.

Great Britain has its Prince of Wales; America, its Lindberg; Beta Chi, its Maxine Macleay! Because of Maxine's ability, her sweet, lively personality, and her depth of character, Beta Chi sent her, as its delegate, to meet you at convention.

A Geologist

Both Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi

A Theta who has done field work on a copper prospect in the hills of Oregon. Yes, Alpha Lambda has one! We introduce Louise Stevens, who has achieved an unusual success in a sweet, quiet way.

Louise was chosen last spring by the Dean of the college of science at the University of Washington as the most outstanding student in that college.

Her career has been unique. Delving deep into a course that has always been considered suitable only for men, this girl has not only made good, but has far surpassed the men who are her class-mates.

Louise is the only undergraduate Geology major to be elected both to Sigma Xi, and to Phi Beta Kappa. Mu Sigma, the only honorary geologic sorority in existence, owes its start to Louise, who instigated this honorary and as its president kept it going.

In the career of this enthusiastic worker one finds campus politics and Y.W.C.A. she being a member of the latter's Student board. She served on the University Standards committee, and for two years was a member of Matrix Table, annual banquet honoring the most prominent junior and senior girls. Louise is now doing graduate work at Radcliffe college in geology and petrography.

Success in the field of geology is achieved only through resolute effort, and for a girl the difficulties are doubled. Louise chose her field early, struggled in it, and loves it.

Besides honoring her for what her success has reflected on Theta, we of Alpha Lambda do love Louise for her kindness and unobtrusive thoughtfulness. She is the sort of girl of whom we can always say with pride, "She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta."

An Iota Theta Broadcasts

"Every Tuesday and Thursday at this hour the New York State College of home economics brings Deborah Domecon to you in some phase of homemaking. —Today Debby and her husband, Bill, are enjoying the half hour after lunch before Bill returns to work." Then if you are watching the announcer at the Cornell university radio station WESG, you see him touch a little key, and smile in the direction of two students who are standing before another microphone. Immediately they begin a conversation, and as simply as that Debby Domecon is on the air for another ten minute message to homemakers.

Outside of the broadcasting studio Debby is known as Harriet McNinch, president of Iota chapter, and now a senior in Home economics at Cornell. Her "husband" is a student in Hotel management, while her young son, who furnishes inspiration for many talks for mothers, has still to make his radio debut. The remainder of the situations for discussion are furnished by various neighbors, friends, and relatives, impersonated by other students in the two colleges.

Debby feels that eight months of broadcasting have been a really profitable experience, for there is a lot that you can learn about the eccentricities of the radio in that time. After the first novelty of the "invisible audience" wears off, there are a number of surprises in store. First of all, your voice doesn't necessarily sound like your own, as a phonograph reproduction will prove. Then there is likely to be great difficulty in making a dialogue between two or three girls sound like more than one person talking. It means careful work on inflections and tempos, and even then it may be necessary to use two microphones to get a satisfactory result.

Four girls besides Debby appeared on these programs at different times—girls whose voices sound anything but similar when you are talking with them. Yet the microphone seems to be a neutralizing medium before which it is the natural thing to assume the speech characteristics of the person who has last spoken. When Debby and her "husband" were on the air they had much less difficulty, for their greatest trouble was in keeping their voices in a conversational tone. It is just a little bit hard, when you are reading subject matter conversation from papers clipped to squares of cardboard, to sound quite as casual and interested as in real life.

But there is no way to get around this handicap, because it would be far too great a risk to depend on extemporaneous dialogue, even when the participants are more than familiar with their subject. The cardboards are necessary, too, for the tiniest rustling of paper or the vaguest whisper is sure to be heard in homes many miles away. It's a lot of fun just to watch the technician in the room next to the studio as he manipulates the dials which increase or diminish volume and do a hundred other things far too intricate to be understood by the layman.

The Debby Domecon talks were written by a woman with a great deal of literary experience. Their purpose was to bring valuable and useful information to the homemakers of New York state and the surrounding districts. All sorts of topics were included in an effort to touch upon something of interest to people in different situations. A résumé of the material presented would list foods, nutrition, clothing and fashion, home furnishing, and child guidance, not to mention additional subjects of seasonal or special interest. At the end of each of these broadcasts a bulletin related to the topic just discussed was offered free for the asking to anyone who was interested.

All in all, Debby says it has been a grand experience, and one that has had its bits of excitement, too. Incidentally, it has been the sort of experience that helps financially, and in these days that is an advantage not to be overlooked. But best of all, according to Debby, is the fun you get from saying to the other girls, "When I was on the air today."

Theta's National Magazine Agency

ELEANORE TAYLOR

IF YOU now belong to that great army of college alumnae whom the census taker delights in classifying as "Housewife" you have been called to the door many times this past summer to discover there a bright-faced youth who assured you "Madam, I am not taking subscriptions, but I want your vote."

We'll be frank and start by saying that we do want your subscriptions. At Estes Park this summer Theta alumnae learned that Pi Beta Phi had cleared over $5,000 for its Settlement during the past three years by such a project. Our Loan and fellowship fund needs all the extra money obtainable. We have over 16,000 alumnae, all of whom read magazines, give them for Christmas and birthday gifts, our task is to get these orders.

Several weeks ago all chapters and clubs received a letter outlining the organization which Cleveland chapter was asked to perfect during the summer. Grand council has appointed Eleanore Taylor of Mu and Cleveland as national director. She has asked every chapter and club to appoint a Theta to act as local promotion agent, but to expedite the placing of all subscriptions, please remember that you must send them directly to Miss Taylor, with your check or money order made out to her. Address: 3376 East Fairfax road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Profits will be credited to the chapters, and announcement made frequently in the Journal of comparative scores. Remember that you are making a personal contribution to the Loan fund each time you order or renew a magazine subscription through Miss Taylor.

We can meet any cut rate or premium offer made by any publisher, so do not hesitate to send these to us, too. The first copy should be delivered four weeks after order is placed, but please remember that in November, December and January five weeks is needed. Do not ask to have your subscription start with a back number, as this can seldom be arranged. Gift cards can always be sent, if you ask for them. Christmas gift orders bring the largest profits, so please cooperate to make this a Merry Christmas for our Loan fund committee.

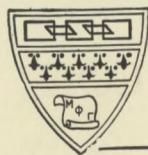

The Franklin Square agency will handle all but half a dozen of the publications, these to be sent direct to the publishers by special arrangement.

Psychologically speaking, we hope you will all become magazine-conscious this autumn. And when you have mailed in all your own orders, ask your neighbors who handles their renewals. All such orders may be credited to your chapter, of course.

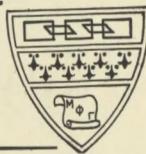

As magazine agent in the Cleveland chapter for some six years, I have learned how large are the profits, and so it is with the greatest enthusiasm that I present this latest project to you all. We urge you to support it as you have always supported every plan of our fraternity, for its success will be commensurate with your interest.

LUCILE PRITCHARD ROGERS

NOTE: That Miss Taylor may get in touch with unorganized Thetas, who may not see the above, each State chairman is requested to send to Miss Taylor a list of towns in her state where there are a number of Thetas, but no club, with the name of one Theta in each such town who might be interested in furthering the work of her neighborhood. Thank you.

ALUMNAE NEWS

MINNEAPOLIS ALUMNÆ started the new year by giving Upsilon chapter a new chair for its living room; and by taking full charge of the Vogue dinner, the traditionally last rushing event at Minnesota.

APPLETON ALUMNÆ helped Alpha Psi with its rush too, giving the first and last rushing parties of the season. Also, at a summer meeting of the alumnae chapter, at the Grand president's lake cottage, the recommendations of prospective rushees were studied and organized for the use of the college girls.

ITHACA ALUMNÆ, on the night of formal pledging, gave Iota and its new pledges a buffet supper at the chapter house.

FROM WINCHESTER, VIRGINIA, Nancy Neelton Lerrick (Mrs Herbert S.) writes that Reba Beard Snarr (Mrs George), Iota, and Mrs Lerrick's daughter, Nancy and herself, both from Alpha Delta, are all the Thetas in town. All are interested in A.A.U.W. at meetings of which they exchange Theta news. Nancy, the younger, teaches English in the city high school and spent last summer in Europe.

BOSTON ALUMNÆ reports an enthusiastic first fall meeting at the home of Constance Bone Jackson. Mrs Powman, beloved president, may spend the winter in Denver, where she now is with her son, so Evelyn Watkins was elected president.

THE ALUMNÆ CLUB of Louisville, Kentucky, reports that it is starting the year with thirty-two club members, and a program revised to attract members with varied interests. Here is hoping that Louisville will soon be transferred from club to chapter status, for such a large membership, if not too transient, justifies such a change.

OKLAHOMA CITY ALUMNÆ chapter had an enthusiastic first meeting, with reports of a successful rush by each of the Oklahoma college chapters. Alpha Omicron pledging 27 girls and Beta Zeta 34. The chapter is planning a subscription dance for the benefit of the Loan and fellowship fund.

FORT WORTH CLUB, newly reorganized last year, reports a growing interest and an increased membership. A baby hospital in the city received sheets, and Christmas toys from the club. This winter the club plans to sew for the Red Cross. It has a good sized charity fund with which to start; the balance from a subscription dance last spring, after a gift of $25 was sent to Alpha Theta chapter. The group reports itself as "very congenial and with a fine spirit of cooperation."

THETA AND THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII

Although the University of Hawaii, in Honolulu, boasts no national fraternities, two members of Kappa Alpha Theta were granted degrees at its twenty-first annual commencement June 7.

Mrs Julia Woolfolk Beck, Alpha Nu, was granted an M.A. degree. Her thesis is A study of the influence of the machine on contemporary American poetry. Elizabeth Harvey, Alpha Iota, was granted a B.A. She transferred to the University of Hawaii when her father, Col. C. G. Harvey, U.S.A., was ordered to duty in Honolulu. Both are members of the Honolulu Kappa Alpha Theta club.

Lacking national fraternities the University of Hawaii has local organizations, some with Greek letters, some Hawaiian names, and some Japanese and Chinese names. The university, twenty-five years old, has an enrollment of more than 2000 students drawn from 14 different nationalities.

May Day at Randolph-Macon

Norma Schuetz, May Queen

THE May Day celebration at Randolph-Macon is the loveliest event of the year and is marked by fitting solemnity and celebration.

Beta Beta is proud that Norma Schuetz, one of its seniors, from South Orange, New Jersey, was the 1932 May Queen of love and beauty—one of the highest and the most contested for honors in the college.

one of the bewildering sights that the be-pinafored Alice saw in her wanderings through Wonderland. She saw and talked and danced with the Duchess, the Rabbit, the Mad Hatter, and the March Hare, the Frog and Fish-face Footmen, the Cheshire Cat, the Three Painters, and eight shining red lobsters (who did a most amusing quadrille). After the croquet party was over and Norma was elected by a vote of the Student body early in February—the basis of selection being scholarship, beauty, and popularity. The court was announced at a Valentine dance when Norma and her court entered through a huge red heart and marched slowly around the dance floor amid cheers of applause and showers of confetti.

The May Day Pageant was modeled after Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland. The May Queen, as the Queen of Hearts, and the gentlemen of the court, as members of the Heart Suit, were invited by the Duchess to a croquet party. This croquet party was the Heart Suit had done a formation dance, all the little creatures disappeared suddenly . . . and Alice woke up.

The court was in a lovely natural amphitheater known as the "dell"; shadowed by towering pines against a background of distant mountains, it was a veritable fairyland. The ladies of the court wore blue chiffon gowns, ranging in tone from a delicate powder blue to a vivid royal blue, and carried arm bouquets of pink roses. Norma, tall and dark, reigned with stately grace and charm over her court. She wore an exquisitely molded white satin gown, with puff sleeves of the sheerest lace, and a lovely train; she carried a bouquet of vivid red and white roses.

In addition to her queenly duties Norma had full charge of the costumes for the pageant, and much of the success of the festival was due to her capability and artistic talent. Throughout her four years Norma has always designed and had full charge of the costumes for class plays. She has also assisted with the costumes for the Sock and Buskin dramatic club, of which she is an invaluable member.

She is a member of Eta, honorary society composed of the most prominent girls in the Even classes. She is also a member of Pi, honorary beauty society. She took the part of Joan Crawford in the Senior minstral, and also managed the costumes.

During her college life Norma has contributed much to the social, dramatic, and artistic life of the college.

Betty Bivins, Lady of the Court

AMONG the ladies of the court was Betty Bivins, Theta sophomore, from Amarillo, Texas; a vivid and charming blonde. Betty made a striking picture in her blue chiffon framed by a background of gnarled pine trees. She served on the costume committee for May Day; and has been active in activities of her class. She designed the costumes for the sophomore play and took part in the Devil dance and the Old-fashioned waltz. She, too, is a member of Pi and of Eta.

Grand Council

Not Officially but as Their Friends Know Them

Never a month passes that this magazine does not receive at least one tip, suggesting that sketches of officers as personalities be printed. Never once in a five year search has this magazine been able to assemble a group of such sketches to print. Evidently the editor of convention's Kite is a clever person, for she gathered "hobby" sketches of all 1930-32 council members, and, as convention reelected them all, they are still the Grand council. So this magazine thanks the Kite staff and appropriates the sketches for reprinting. Two of the council, were such "easy marks" that they responded to the demand to write of their own hobbies, the rest passed on the demand to accommodating friends.

Margaret Banta, Grand President

I HAVE gone patiently back through my life cataloging all of my so-called activities which might be classed as hobbies. Upon analysis each one has failed to live up to such a classification, and I am frank to say that I have become discouraged. An S.O.S. from Denver asks for about three hundred words on a subject that I cannot even apply to myself!

Even in my youth I never collected stamps. Once I thought I had a hobby when I saved cigar coupons—and became the proud possessor of a carving set. Possibly it was my choice of prizes which stopped all future operations along these lines. I can remember being literally overcome with the excitement of picking up tin foil. True enough, I was back in the field of cigars, but this time it was brilliant jackets I sought and not blue and pink coupons. After achieving a ball the size of a walnut, I turned my attentions to bigger and better things. Another potential hobby was laid to rest.

Upon consulting a fortune teller, I discovered that it was even written in the stars that I was not domestic. So, if my home might have developed into a hobby, my ability was too limited to establish the mania!

One never would put children under the classification my subject calls for. I would like to put them there—but I always think of "hobbyists" as collecting things—and I have not even continued to collect children.

And so 'round and 'round I go, always arriving at the conclusion that I am a peculiar person—that I have no hobby.

But wait! I wonder if possibly my hobby is so close to me that I have not sensed it! At least I have continued to collect experience and pleasure, through a certain medium, for many years—and I have not even been tempted to stop with a few coupons and a small ball!

As I continue to ponder, I am convinced and comforted to find that I have a hobby—it is Kappa Alpha Theta!

Alline Wright, Grand Vice-president

Salina, Kansas
June 26, 1932

WHEN last seen, a week ago, Mrs Purdey B. Wright, better known as Alline, was in Kansas City scouring Rothschild's to add to her already expensive wardrobe. However, this clue is rather valueless as clothes are a hobby with her, and she makes such shopping tours frequently. Her clothes are a never ending joy and revelation to Salina.

When approached as to other possible clues, Mr Wright said she had taken up reducing rather recently and quite seriously, it might have affected her mind temporarily. All hotels and restaurants are requested to keep a lookout for an attractive blond who consumes great quantities of spinach and egg omelets, but scornfully refuses potatoes in all forms, though she occasionally nibbles at a forbidden potato chip when no one is looking.

Her young son, Pat, gave a less coherent statement when questioned. All he could say was "Chu-chu," "Teta Girls," and more "Chu-chu." This may be because his mother often went on trips to Canada and all over the United States. She holds the title of Expansion Expert with a widely known organization of women some way connected with universities and colleges. She is installing new branches here and there. Mrs

Wright got her early experience while still in school, inspecting all the timber and each brick that went into the then new house of the organization at Columbia, Missouri. Her work now is just a step up in her amazing career.

Livery stable attendants have been questioned as she is quite a horse fancier. The public is earnestly requested to scrutinize all moon-light riders on scenic bridle paths. Resorts please take notice.

Mr Carroll of Lincoln, Nebraska, a close friend of the husband, was next interviewed as to a possible clue. He stated that his own wife had been missing about the same length of time. He felt no alarm as yet as she, too, often went away, being President of a District V of something or other, maybe the Democrats. She might even be in Chicago as she mentioned a convention.

A recent picture in a Denver paper was thought to be of Mrs Wright, but her associates in the picture, Mesdames Banta, Kircher, Grasett and Miss Green, looked a bit questionable company for one of her type.

Every one is requested to watch all toy shops as it is reported that she often returns from these laden with all the newest doo-dads to delight the heart of a two-year-old.

Mrs Wright has no other hobbies or eccentricities to identify her. She likes to do everything and does each well—is always the first one at a fire and the last to leave a party.

As a last resort Who's Who has been referred to. A Mrs Alline Wright, A.B. '32, Missouri university, Mortar board. L.S.V.-K.A.T., Expansion Expert, etc., etc., is listed. This K.A.T. is a valuable clue.

Photographers, reporters and possibly friend husband are speeding to Estes Park, where that well known group of women are in convention.

Saline is hopeful and expecting her speedy and safe return.

PAULINE MOORE

Catharine Kircher, Grand Alumnae Secretary

June 16,

DEAR MRS HILLYARD,

Events always seem to occur at the most illogical time, and this time is no exception to the rule. When your letter arrived Mother was on her way to have her arm X-rayed, to see if it were broken.

It was.

As a result, her writing is almost as bad as mine, but since mine now has the virtue of more speed, I am unanimously nominated by her as a committee of one to answer your letter.

("Grand Council" to be continued in the next issue.)

You wish to know her favorite hobbies. That's easy—reading, swimming, golfing, and contract bridge. Unfortunately she does not go in for anything like stamp collecting, or I would be able to write reams about her. She does bake good cakes and cookies, but has had very little time to spend on such things since she became alumnae secretary.

She loathes making speeches. She has the happy knack of not pretending to be a fortune teller, so she seldom uses the hated expression "I told you so." She thoroughly enjoys golf and has often broken into the low seventies. When she does this it sometimes fires her with enough ambition to try the next nine holes.

Up to two years ago she had never had any serious accidents, but since becoming your secretary she has broken, in rapid succession, an arm and a leg. As she says herself "this business of breakages is becoming monotonous!"

Yours truly
HER ELDEST SON
(PAUL KIRCHER)

P.S.: She will be at your convention in spite of the broken arm.

Another interesting story of Florida natives, Gal young un, by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, Psi, appeared in the June and July issues of Harpers.

Vera Kelsey, Alpha Pi, records in the October issue of the Journal of A.A.U.W. an interview with Anne Morgan, president of the American woman's association, on Surviving hard times. This continues the observations of this association with the out-of job trained women in New York city, which were set forth last year in a book, reviewed in this magazine's March issue. Miss Kelsey is "the able publicity director of the American woman's association," to quote A.A.U.W.

Jane Elizabeth Higbee, Tau, is the author of a one-act farce, The newly poor, which had its premier at the Miami, Florida, civic theater, April 19. The play satirizes the collecting of antiques, and was well received.

The May issue of Phi Delta Delta, magazine of the legal fraternity of that name, published an interesting article on Legal aid as a civic responsibility by Dora Shaw Heffner, attorney for the Southern California legal aid clinic association. Mrs Heffner is a member of Omicron chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta and an admired and loved member of its Advisory board.

Colorado Springs Installation

ARRIVING late at an installation is trying at best, and at Colorado Springs to miss the picnic luncheon in the mountains was my sad misfortune. It must have been a happy affair and one that the visiting Thetas will long remember.

The installing officers attended a delightful dinner at the home of Mrs Robert Newman just before the pledge service. When pledging was over we sat about and listened to Contemporary songs that will always be remembered by the present chapter, and Theta songs which will be dear to them from now on. Refreshments were served, and old and new acquaintances chatted and sang.

On the morning of initiation, excitement ran high in a suite in the Broadmoor hotel. Thetas from Colorado, Kansas, and Nebraska gathered to help with the preparations and rehearse the songs.

After the initiation of the alumnae everyone adjourned to a charming Inn for dinner. At nine o'clock the ceremonies were again resumed and by midnight Contemporary pins had been removed and Theta kites pinned on sixty-seven new members.

Weary, but still enthusiastic, the officers breakfasted with Mrs George LeCrone on Saturday morning and afterwards, Thetas, new and old, held conferences.

In the afternoon the formal bow of Kappa Alpha Theta was made on the Colorado College campus. More than two hundred people were invited (and most of them came) to the beautiful home of Mrs Harold Ingersoll in Broadmoor for tea.

Installation took place just before the formal banquet at the Broadmoor Hotel. When Beta Omega had been formally established we all went down to the final banquet. There Mrs Wright acted as toastmistress. Responses were made by Mrs Weaver, Mrs Carroll, Jean Johnson, the president of the chapter, and Mrs Banta.

At Convention the members of Contemporary were invited to our Western dinner and introduced one by one. We were all enthusiastic over the poise and charm of these attractive girls, but no one could realize their true value as new members of our fraternity until they had visited them in Colorado Springs.

—MARGARET K. BANTA

NO GOOD

My friend, have you heard of the town of Nogood,
 On the banks of the river Slow,
 Where blooms the Waitawhile flower fair;
 Where the Sometimeorother scents the air
 And the soft Goeasiers grow?
 Would you go where the soft Goeasiers grow?
 It lies in the valley of Whatistheuse,
 In province of Letherslide;
 That tired feeling is native there,
 'Tis the home of the reckless Idon'tcare,
 Where the Giveitups abide.

Loan and Fellowship Fund

BEFORE convention I had a rather hazy idea of the work of the Loan and fellowship fund. But when I saw those splendid college delegates and realized that they were the type of girls being helped by this fund, I began to appreciate its true value. The girls were attractive, keen mentally, and possessed the poise of mature women.

Without the help of the Loan and fellowship fund, many a Theta would have to leave college with an incomplete education. What a loss! For with a completed education, these young women will go far. They are serious minded and appreciate that it is a privilege to go to college in these times.

I want to urge every alumnae chapter, club, and individual Theta, to give this fund most thoughtful consideration. Won't you raise all the money you possibly can for it during the coming year? No effort is too great and no sacrifice too hard to keep your younger sisters in college. Our fraternity is fortunate indeed to have such a fund, so capably managed by Los Angeles alumnae chapter. Other alumnae chapters are helping too. Washington takes care of the fellowship award; Pittsburgh, of research; Houston, St. Louis, and Portland, of ways and means; and our own chapter, of publicity. At convention, delegates of these chapters pledged wholeheartedly their support to the fund.

We hope that every Theta will make some contribution for Loan and fellowship, as there are now more calls than there is money to answer them. May I beg of you to make this your major project during the next biennium. The reward will far surpass your greatest expectations.

MARY LOUISE RUMPLER RAGSDALE,
Indianapolis alumnae

Theta's Tennis Ace

HELEN JACOBS, Omicron, has been busy this summer collecting tennis laurels—of the best brand obtainable in the United States. July 30 she won the title at the Sea Bright tournament for the third time, retiring the Sea Bright bowl from competition.

MISS HELEN JACOBS IN ACTION

Miss Helen Jacobs, California, photographed in action at Forest Hills, N.Y., August 20, in her match with Mrs Elsie Goldsack Pittman, England. Miss Jacobs defeated her rival 6-2, 6-3 to enter the final round where she will meet Miss Carolina Babcock, fellow Californian. (Associated Press Photo)

In the final round she took two sets from Miss Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, California, 6-4, 6-3. She also won the bowl in 1928 and 1929. Steady Miss Cruickshank's deep driving forehand attack forced Helen to cover a great deal of ground, but she was quite capable of doing it. There was little doubt at any time of the outcome. The New York Herald Tribune of July 31 summarizes the match as follows:

"Miss Jacobs began a run of early successes which promised to make the match a one-sided affair. She won her first game at service with the loss of only one point. Then she broke Miss Cruickshank's offerings at love, and went to 3-0 with the loss of only two more points. Miss Cruickshank rallied, and her base-line driving took the fourth game.

"Miss Jacobs took her service game and broke through Miss Cruickshank's in the sixth game for a 5-1 lead. Miss Cruickshank had an excellent opportunity to prolong the sixth game, but when presented with an easy kill at the net she drove it into the cords. Perhaps that error spurred her to better tennis, for immediately thereafter she began to chase the country's second ranking woman playing back and forth at the baseline. With unerring accuracy she kept her low, net-skimming drives inches short of the baseline and Miss Jacobs experienced a streak of long hitting to lose the seventh game, in which her service was broken.

"Miss Cruickshank, on her own turn, went to thirty-all and then whipped over two services which Miss Jacobs was lucky to return weakly to the net. She broke Miss Jacobs service again in the ninth game, peppering the baseline with cross court shots to the Berkeley girl's backhand or maneuvering for placements. Storming along at a rate which threatened to cut down Miss Jacob's lead Miss Cruickshank held game point once in the tenth, and sent the score to deuce three times before she relinquished the set. She double-faulted for the deciding point.

"Coming up for the second set with more reserve strength than her opponent, Miss Cruickshank drove through Miss Jacobs first service game for a 1-0 lead. That was her last success, however, and she never held the lead thereafter. Her service was broken in the second game, and Miss Jacobs struck her most effective session in the third, putting over three aces. They went to 2-all and 3-all, and Miss Jacobs ran out the set and match.

"The eighth game went to deuce three times before Miss Jacobs put over a nice sideline placement and forced a Cruickshank net, and the ninth game brought out another fine bit of serving for Miss Jacobs, including three more hard-driven aces and a placement to the corner."

About a month later, at the end of August, Helen won the United States Women's National lawn-tennis championship, at Forest Hills, Long Island. It took her just thirty-one minutes to defeat Carolyn Babcock in the finals, in a 6-2, 6-2 victory. With the score at 3-2 in the first set, Helen broke through Miss Babcock's service and ran out the set. In the second set, Helen broke through Miss Babcock's second service to take a 3-1 lead. Miss Babcock then broke through Helen's service to make it 2-3, but after that she was through. Helen ran out the set easily, to win the championship, and to receive the large silver cup that goes with it.

Not satisfied with winning the highest honor this country has to offer in the Women's tennis singles, Helen then teamed up with Sarah Palfrey to win the Women's National doubles title, too. They defeated Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter and Alice Marble, 8-6, 6-1.

New York City Panhellenic Plans

HELEN WALDO heads the social committee for the Panhellenic club at 3 Mitchell Place, New York City, for the coming winter. Helen is from Kappa Alpha Theta's Alpha Psi chapter, and is well known in literary circles as the associate editor of John Martin's book.

Panhellenic was four years old October 1 and the celebration of this anniversary was the first important event of the program.

Miss Waldo and the board of directors are planning an unusual schedule of events including art, music, literature, economics and political science. One of its purposes will be to emphasize the fact that Panhellenic is the ideal gathering place for cultured women in New York city.

Each member of the board of directors recently sent the following letter to members of her fraternity:

"Now that business is starting on the upgrade and every one is beginning to be happy again, I want to tell you of the progress Panhellenic (your own club) is making.

"Panhellenic rentals have been reduced to meet the new purchasing value of the dollar. Rentals now begin at $10 weekly and $2 daily, for both fraternity and non-fraternity women. A floor has been reserved for young fraternity girls where double rooms may be had for $7.50 a week for each person. All single rooms on this floor are $10 weekly. Just fancy the most beautiful view in New York and all outside rooms, many with a river view—at these low rates!

"You will also be glad to know that Panhellenic now has the most comfortable beds in New York, our old mattresses having been replaced with Beauty-rest mattresses.

"As you know the lovely lounges on the second floor are available for rental for tea and bridge parties, so if you plan to entertain this fall or winter make your bookings early. Some of your clubs will find the social rooms an ideal place for a luncheon, dance or dinner, and the rentals are nominal, so why not suggest Panhellenic to them?

"As a permanent home, a place to lunch or dine, or for general meetings Panhellenic is ideal—just ten minutes' walk from Grand Central station, and fifteen minutes on a cross town bus with a five cent fare to the theater district.

"Tell your friends—won't you?"

The winter plans include—weekly dinner bridges, monthly club meetings, Sunday teas, monthly exhibits, and classes in both pottery and bridge; beside special events, the first of which is the annual Panhellenic bridge, November 12.

Thetas at Geneva

WITHIN a short time after our arrival at Lake Geneva at various hours of the day and night, twelve Thetas were looking individually, and later in small, organized, and determined groups, for wearers of kites. We found each other, and were friends, in a few days. And from the opening of the Y.W.C.A. conference for seven happy days we were meeting and talking, already with one great common bond among us, and building up a second tie in our new companionship at Geneva.

The high light of our Theta activity was the sail boat ride. It was rather calm that evening, so there were no thrilling tips and no splashing waves, but we learned successfully, and with no casualties, to "duck the boom." Only nine of us were able to go out, for busy Peggy Lepper, associate chairman of the conference, and Myrtie Glasser, who led a fascinating discussion group on Appreciation, could not get away, and Betty Provine didn't arrive until that night. But nine voices sang Theta songs for a whole hour, to our own joy and satisfaction, and we hope to that of our skipper, his crew of one, and the waves.

Traditions, customs, scholarship, activities, in other chapters formed the basis for exchange of many ideas.

In addition to our purely social times, some of us had real work to do at convention. Myrtie and Peg were, unfortunately, too busy to be with us as much as we would have liked. Dotty Reynolds was assistant editor of the Geneva Sun, daily paper which appears with the breakfast and tells us of the day's happenings and plans. Ardine Berg, chairman of golf, shepherded the aspirants trying to break 100 on the 9-hole golf course, and served two tables at the dining hall, tables often filled with Thetas, snatching another opportunity of being together and getting to know one another better. Marty Allen and I sang in the choir, while Jeanne Pontius helped arrange the Lantern parade, the most effective spectacle at camp. Four hundred girls, four hundred Japanese lanterns, winding down the hill to the lake, the lanterns reflected in the water, and voices singing negro spirituals and Follow the gleam.

Y.W.C.A. honors for next year pass from Peg Lepper, who served last year, to Dotty Reynolds, who was elected a member of the Eastern Geneva council. Other undergraduate Thetas are taking active places on the Sophomore council and on committees, and in freshman leadership on various campuses.

Myrtie, Dotty and Peg are old Geneva campers, but to the rest of us the beauty of Lake Geneva—the value of the convention, were newly revealed, and we all came away full of the hope and desire of returning next year. HELEN SPENCE, Gamma deuteron

Greeting from Syria

A PICTURE of two Thetas in Beirut, Syria. The one on the right wears a Nomadic Arab costume and the other is in a married woman's Bethlehem costume. Since we are the only Thetas in this section of the Near East we thought it might be interesting for you to know how we met and how much Theta sisterhood has meant to us.

This is my third year of teaching in the American Community school, a private school for the children of the faculty of the American university. Upon returning from the usual vacation trip to Europe last summer, I spent a few days in the Lebanon mountains before the opening of school. There I met a newcomer, Theodora Reeve, who was to be the new kindergarten teacher. Before many hours we soon discovered we both wore kites! You can imagine with what joy and happiness we clasped each others hands and realized there was a bond of friendship to build upon. Miss Reeve, Alpha Psi chapter, is to be here two more years and I am returning to be principal of the school for another year.

We are using every opportunity to travel and study the life and customs around us. This spring vacation we are going to Palestine to be in Jerusalem for Easter, then continue into Transjordan to the "forgotten city" of Petra. This is a city built sometime between 200 B.C. and 200 A.D. with altars, sacrifice places, tombs, and temples hewn into rose colored sandstone cliffs.

Petra has just recently been made accessible to visitors and even now we must secure permission from the British government and take armed escorts for protection against wandering brigands.

We shall also visit the seven-storied Crusader castle at Kerak and the Roman ruins at Jerash which has lately been excavated by Yale university. The outdoor theater there is considered comparable to that at Pompeii. We hope, too, to see the interesting excavations which Chicago university is making at Megiddo, where they are unearthing Solomon's stables.

Panhellenic Scholarship Award

The 1932 winner of the New York City Panhellenic Scholarship Award of $500 is Helen E. Fairbairn of Buffalo, New York, Miss Fairbairn received an M.A. at the University of Buffalo, majoring in psychology, with a thesis on interests determining occupational choice. She is on the faculty of the University of Buffalo as personnel adviser for women. The university has given her leave of absence to begin work for her doctorate at Columbia university. She plans to specialize in social psychology and do some work in the Medical college with emphasis upon psychiatry. She is a member of Sigma Kappa.

Miss Ruth M. Buchanan, Pullman, Washington, was selected by the Scholarship committee as alternate to Miss Fairbairn. The fact that Miss Buchanan wishes to study at Columbia university toward her Masters degree in psychology is an interesting coincidence. Miss Buchanan is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

This award was given first in 1930, and was won by Miss Helen Delano Willard, Alpha Phi. The second award given in April 1931 was won by Miss Katherine Noble, Pi Beta Phi. Both Miss Willard and Miss Noble made splendid records at Columbia. The award of 1932 completes the three year program of scholarships, announced in the fall of 1929 by the New York City Panhellenic.

No letter received.

ETA

The girls returning received probably the biggest surprise of their college careers. It is so lovely that we must admit frankly it produced difficulties. Some of us thought perhaps we had returned to the wrong house. Here is the surprise. Both living rooms and the dining room have been re-decorated. We boast of new rugs, drapes, and furniture, all of which have been chosen to produce harmonious and delightful effects. Every room has been repapered. Chapter, alumnae, and interior decorator have been responsible.

Eta was the hostess to our Grand secretary, Miss L. Pearle Green, and our District president, Mrs L. C. Rogers, for a few days.

We are now in the midst of rushing. It began September 24, and continues through October 6. We are using some novel ideas for entertainment. One, especially clever, was a pirate dinner: carried out with a chest of jewels for a centerpiece, and coins and playing cards scattered over the table. Another was a football dinner: since the season calls forth that great American sport, we appropriately used a football, and toy goal posts as centerpiece. Almost all in the alumnae groups of Ann Arbor and Detroit have given us assistance in rushing.

Graduation took eight girls, and we deeply regret their passing. However, we are pleased that one of them, Mildred Bell, is back taking her Masters degree. Another, Winefred Hartman, is in Russia visiting her father who is an engineer for the government.

LAMBDA Lambda initiated Helen A. Miller, Danvers, Massachusetts, September 30, and followed the ceremony with a supper.

Charlotte Odell and Elizabeth Eckhard were elected to Mortar board last spring, and Elizabeth has since been made president. We are especially proud that both president last year and this year are Thetas.

Charlotte Odell was elected secretary of Student union council; Claribel Morris, social-chairman of Student union council;

Katherine Tolman, chairman of Health council.

The spring house party was the weekend of June 11 at Mrs Hall's camp on Thompson's Point. Twenty-five Thetas were present and so crowded the place that some slept on the ground, some slept two-deep, but almost every one had too good a time to sleep at all.

The alumnae have refinished a room on third floor and its two occupants consider it quite the finest in the house. The bathroom on that floor was enlarged and re-decorated and several rooms downstairs have been papered and painted. All of which makes us grateful to the alumnae.

Betty Rich attended Freshman camp and assisted with the song leading.

We are sorry that Beatrice Lindsay is not back.

June Spread was Commencement week in charge of Burlington alumnae chapter. The Emma L. Votey Pin, given by Mary Noyes to the Lambda member who best typifies courage, perseverance, and loyalty was awarded to Claribel Morris. Hope Ranslow had it last year and Claribel is particularly honored in wearing a pin that is usually awarded a senior.

Charlotte Odell had a leading part in the Spring opera, Mozart's Cosi fan tutte. Janet Dodds, Eleanor Eggleston, Helen Miller, Marjorie Hayden, and Elizabeth Rich are members of Glee club.

SIGMA Last spring, to give the final
Toronto touch to a most happy year, the alumnae gave their usual send-off party to the graduating members of Sigma—Margaret Attwood, Betty Burton, Hazel Hammond, Bobs Hood, Joan Keagey, Tina Keith, Kay O'Brien, Pat O'Reilly, Mary Turner—leaving us only fifteen strong. The party was a whopping success, with Dudley Martin's ingenious spirit hovering over a skilfully contrived microphone, assisted by a cast of other Thetas, who ably "took off" the graduating class. If the saying "Laugh and grow fat" has an ounce of truth in it, Sigma ought to be able to prosper in the Fat Ladies' show!

The chapter presented its departing members with small engraved tokens of congratulations of their own choosing, and they responded valiantly with the gift of a much-needed floor lamp.

Immediately after final examinations, twenty Thetas scurried off to a summer resort just outside of Barrie, where they recuperated with some hilarity and worked off their excess physical energy (their mental energy having been worked off previously) in walking, swimming, games etc.

We have a new home. Our old apartment was not only inadequate but inconvenient. Our new haven is a duplex nearer Varsity on Willcocks street, which has the added attraction of allowing more scope for our lively and animated meetings (not always appreciated heretofore by neighbor apartment-holders).

The year started off in fine style with a Senior-freshie house party September 24-25, in new Whitney hall residence, when the fourth year entertained the first year with skits, bridge, cocoa and pajama parties, church, exploration tours, songsters, winding up with the muddling ordeal of registration.

In university activities, Margaret Conboy, our president, is also president of the Italian-Spanish club; Isabel Jordan is president of Women's undergraduate debating union; Betty Lang is an ex-officio member of the League of Nations club in her capacity as one of its founders. Of outstanding interest to Tau alumnae is the unveiling of the portrait of Mary Ross Potter, Theta Dean of women at Northwestern for twenty-four years. UPSILON
Minnesota

Minnesota is in the whirl of fall rushing, with Panhellenic's waiving of the deferred rushing regulation. The week's entertainment by Theta began with a tea given by St Paul alumnae chapter, moved through a series of teas, luncheons, and dinners, and was climaxed by a formal party Saturday night planned by Minneapolis alumnae chapter. Motifs were colorful and individual.

We are all so happy to have Mrs Aldrich, our house mother, back. She spent a pleasant summer with friends at Fredmar farms, near St Louis.

Upsilon is fortunate in having three transfers, Beth Barnes from Alpha Sigma, Marian Stephens from Alpha Pi, and Edna Haave from Beta Mu. The house seems the same again with Mary Eleanor Gray, last year's president who graduated in June, back from Chicago. She is working in Minneapolis, and will live with us this winter. We are proud of Ruth Hanford who won the scholarship presented annually by the Women's club of Duluth.

Late last spring we pledged Clarice Berg, Eleanor Shaw, and Marjorie Hooper.

The evening before preference night entertainment consisted of movies, a short comedy and a Mickey Mouse. During rushing we were honored by a visit from Mrs Laughlin, District president.

During the summer four rooms on second floor were redecorated, which completed the rehabilitation of that floor begun last Christmas vacation. The third floor girls were so inspired that cans of paint and vigorous splashing served to make their rooms serious rivals of the glory of "second floor."

ALPHA BETA Swarthmore College did not open until October 6, due to the infantile paralysis epidemic in Philadelphia. And again our house-party, which was to have been held at Katherine Rowe's home in Virginia, was cancelled. We hope for better luck next year.

This year a new rushing system was installed. Each fraternity had five parties. A rushee could go to all first parties but could attend only two out of the other four, even though she might be invited to all of them. ALPHA XI Since May the reorganization of the university has Oregon been completed; sciences have been located at Oregon State college, and arts and letters at the university; duplication of courses being eliminated so far as possible. The university still has the school of business administration and the school of journalism. Dr William J. Kerr, former president of State college, was elected chancellor of the five institutions of higher learning (university, college, three normal schools); and all institutions are open for business. The worst is yet to come, however; for unfortunately this letter must go to press before the November elections, and we can give you no idea of what will be the popular decision on the initiative bill proposing to move the University to Corvallis, the law school to Salem, the Oregon normal schools at Monmouth, LaGrande, and Ashland to Eugene, and establish junior colleges at LaGrande and Ashland. The mammoth undertaking has been denounced by newspapers all over the state, and has greatly alarmed Eugene and the sites of the normal schools. To speak frankly, we of Eugene think it would be ruinous to education and to business, and are indignant at the prospect of losing our university; but many other people all over the state are inclined to agree with us.

Fraternity life has remained much the same through all these changes. No one knows what will happen to fraternities here if the university is moved to Corvallis; but it has not been moved yet.

Alpha Xi lost Barbara Barker, Marian Camp, Bessie Darling, M. K. Fenton, Beth Ann Johnson, Betty Rebec, and Dorothy Tongue through graduation; but during April Elizabeth Langille of Hood River and Frances Brockman of Eugene were pledged, and Eleanor Barker initiated.

Beth Ann Johnson was campus chairman for Senior Leap week (when senior women entertain senior men); Mary Lou Muncy was secretary for the canoe fête, a major event of Junior week-end; Laura Drury was elected treasurer of Associated women students (but was unable to return to college and fill her post); Marian Camp and Georgia Miller were on election boards for student-body elections; Emmajane Rorer was in charge of the reception for Mothers' day banquet; Cynthia Liljeqvist and Jane Fales were on committees for the freshman and sophomore picnics respectively.

Barbara Barker was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; Charlotte Eldridge and Cynthia Liljeqvist to Kwama (sophomore women's service honorary); Laura Drury to Phi Theta Upsilon (upperclasswomen's ditto); Margaret Heltzel to Mu Phi Epsilon; and Janet Fitch to Phi Beta (women's professional music and drama fraternity). Frances Brockman was elected president of Phi Beta.

Kappa Alpha Theta was awarded the scholarship cup given each year at Junior Prom to the living organization having the highest scholastic average for the three semesters. Theta's rank for spring term was second.

And now for fall term, 1932-33! There will be room only for the nineteen girls who donned black and gold ribbon September 25; their activities and ours must wait for the next letter. Pledges: Elesa Addis, Janet Howard, San Francisco; Mary Babson, Catherine Kelly (sister of Elizabeth Kelly, Beta Epsilon) Hood River; Evelyn Beebe, Ann Chapman, Martha Chapman, Dorothy Fenton (daughter of Lela Goddard Fenton and sister of M. K.), Betty Holman, Ann Latourette, Jean McDonald, and Alice Ann Thomas (daughter of Mary Hutchins Thomas, Phi) all of Portland; Claire Bryson, Margaret Ann Smith, Eugene; Peggy Chessman, Astoria; Libby Crommelin, Pendleton; Sally Siegrist, LaGrande; Mary Starbuck, Dallas; and Gene Way, Boston, Massachusetts.

ALPHA TAU
Cincinnati

Alpha Tau has just completed a successful rushing season. Rushing was confined to the two weeks before the Liberal Arts college opened, September 6 to 19. We started with a Winter Tea, given at the home of Margaret Tuechter. Our second party was a Night club party, planned and arranged by Cincinnati alumnae chapter. This party was a complete surprise to Alpha Tau and was enjoyed as much by members as by rushees. A clever turn to this party was the raid of rushees. The alumnae took all rushees to the university law college where they conducted a musical trial. The formal, a tradition in Alpha Tau, was a Round the world cruise. We closed our rushing with a buffet supper at our new apartment. September 19, we pledged, at Ruth Jung's home, Mary Louise Jung (sister), Elinor Bauer, Hazel Beucus, Florence Brentson, Ann Brown, Marion Haffner, Dorothy Hussey, Marjorie Kaiser, Caroline Struble, Jeanne Tateman, and Betty Vorris. Jane Creager, transfer pledge from Alpha Chi, also was pledged.

The first of September we moved into a new four room apartment located at 2702 Stratford avenue.

Mary Holzman and Sallie Harkness were initiated by Mortar board. Jean Gustetter was elected a Junior advisor, and serves as vice-chairman of that group. Ada Alpaugh, Marjorie Cowell, and Jane Oridge were selected as members of the Vigilant committee.

ALPHA PHI
Newcomb

Alpha Phi is justly proud of the 1932 rush week just ended. The theme was the Kappa Alpha Theta tour, and rush cards were in the form of tickets to be torn off and returned. We saw America first at a house-party in Biloxi, Mississippi, and an Hawaiian and a Mexican party carried on the idea. One successful luncheon was given on a Pullman dining-car.

We pledged Elizabeth Bailey, Mobile, Alabama; Margaret Bertrand, Jackson, Mississippi; Clarice Berry, Birmingham, Alabama; Kathleen Bowers (sister of Georganna) Dallas, Texas; Charlene Cooper (sister of Miriam) Galveston, Texas; Doris Davis, Kansas City, Missouri; Mae Hendrick, Shreveport; Catherine Hoge, Fort Smith, Arkansas; Beryl Kirk, Mobile, Alabama; Sara Ricks, Canton, Mississippi; Polly West, Norfolk, Virginia; Dot White, Kings Port, Tennessee; Cecile Costley, Catherine Colvin, Betty Hudson, Sigrid Olsen (sister of Jenny), Dorothy Dodson, Adrienne Gottschalk, Mary Lou Gregory, Alice Hebert, Virginia Morris, Florence Singreen, all of New Orleans.

Other groups may have pledged more girls but we filled our quota and our group is the most generally as well as individually attractive and congenial.

In the May day exercises last spring, Juanita Heiss, Dixie Tharp, and Viola Vail served as Dukes. The entire May Day was managed by Juanita Heiss, who also coached some of the dances. In the party given by sophomores for freshmen, Inez Reuland and Dot White were members of the beauty court; Vassar Morelock and Susan Word were Dukes, and Lalise Moore was Judge.

We were all proud to see Marjorie Wilson conducting her first Student body meeting as president. Juanita Heiss is assistant business manager of Jambalaya, the Tulane-Newcomb yearbook. Lalise Moore is editor of Newcomb Arcade. Peggy McMahon was elected president of Doris hall dormitory. Catherine Colvin was elected to Athletic council. Vassar Morelock is corresponding secretary of Student body.

We were sorry to lose Grace Carr to Alpha Omicron and Viola Vail to Rho.

We raised our scholastic standing to third—missed second place by only one one-hundredth of a point—but we will be first yet! We are proud of Georgia Dorner, Bettina Ireland, Lydia Marks, Mary Ann Miller, Jane Wright, and Virginia Arter who made the distinguished list last semester.

Harriet Hall and Keltie McCoy were initiated by Mortar board and Harriet was elected its president. She is also secretary of W.S.G.A. Keltie is secretary of Playshop and co-ed editor of Debris, yearbook. Martha Allen is one of two junior co-eds on the staff. Mary Esther Converse was elected a member of Student council. The Y.W.C.A. Cabinet claims seven Thetas, Keltie McCoy, Jane Forshee, Alice Mary Lehman, Dorothy Reynolds, Mary Esther Converse, and Anna Margaret Ross.

Thetas won the W.A.A. participation cup for the third time, which entitles the chapter to keep it permanently among its collection of trophies. This success we owe to Jane Forshee, athletic manager for the house, who not only worked to keep up enthusiasm among the girls but who also won with Alice Mary Lehman, the intramural tennis tournament. The fencing tournament was won by Betty Congdon and Alice Mary.

Functions were: Monday afternoon, tea at Mrs Boyd's home in Appleton; Tuesday evening the Music box revue, dancing party at Mrs Bergstrom's home in Neenah; Wednesday afternoon a garden party and fashion show at Mrs Rogers' home in Neenah; Thursday evening Kite night at Mrs Boyd's cottage, where, in addition to a skit on the founding of Theta, Joan McGillan, and Kathleen Stewart gave readings. ALPHA OMEGA
Pittsburgh

Alpha Omega members are together this year with the exception of seniors and two or three who found it necessary to become inactive. College began September 26.

Preparation for Lantern night, one of the most beautiful of Pitt's traditions, has occupied most of our time during these first few days. The ceremony was on Thaw hall lawn. Each freshman was escorted by a big sister. Father Pitt welcomed the freshmen to the university and sent each one with a lighted lantern through the gates of knowledge to the home of wisdom. The procession made its way around the campus to Heinz house, the women's home, aided only by the light from the lanterns and the torches of the Cwens. There each freshman was officially initiated into campus life at the university. Many of our girls acted as big sisters while others, members of Cwens, were marshals.

Among those who spent their vacations out of the state are Dorothy Lee, who attended Mortar board convention at West Baden, Indiana; Jane Walton, who traveled through Kentucky; Eleanor Smith, who visited in Virginia; and our house mother, Mrs Cooper, who was in Florida. Helen Houser and Janet Slease were counsellors at the Allegheny county Girl Scout camp in the Connequenessing valley.

BETA EPSILON
Oregon State

An ideal beginning of the college year was given us by our District president, Betty Robb, who is a delightful person and loads of fun. She came to Corvallis the day before rushing started and stayed five days. It wasn't nearly long enough, but it was nice having her for that short time. We all hope she can come again soon, for she helped Beta Epsilon in many ways.

We pledged three Theta sisters, Margaret McVay (sister of Catherine and daughter of Mrs Alice Jones McVay, Upsilon) and Florence Schull (sister of Martha) both Portland; and Mary Katherine Johnson (sister of Emma) Corvallis; and Carmen Case, Molalla; Betty Armitage, Jean Ross, Helen Buchanan, Portland; and Virginia Bosworth, Corvallis.

We were nicely surprised with our rooms. They have all been painted a pale green. We have new studio couches which add much to the rooms. All gifts from alumnae.

We are sorry to lose by graduation, Edith Parsons, Mary Stuart, Marianne Sharpe, Virginia Wolfe, and Sylvia Strain. Helen Rolston has transferred to University of California and Elizabeth Fletcher to Stanford. Elizabeth was active on campus being a member of Phi Kappa Phi, of Cap and gown, of Omicron Nu. #### BETA ETA Pennsylvania

The chapter house officially opened for the new year September 19. Mops were wielded, dusters were whisked over the furniture, and window cleaning materials all pulled down from our kitchen shelves. Order was drawn from chaos, and the house now is something of which we are all proud.

Our chapter room acquired newly painted black chairs and sofa, with apple-green cushions on them. We have twin beds for the front bedroom, and, as the class of '32 presented us with a pair of wool blankets, we have completed a charming bedroom. The living room floor is being painted by hard-working and hard-breathing Beta Etas.

At this time it seems rather out of place to mention May day, but we must say that Grace Faaet was elected May Queen, and that Dorothy Puder, Martha Anne Griswold, and Eleanor Pfeil were in her court.

Commencement caused a large gap in our membership, nine seniors taking their degrees: Evelyn Tidball, Eunice Stockwell, Margaret Huebner, Grace Faaet (valedictorian), Dorothy I. Puder (historian), Martha Anne Griswold, Sally Potts, Dorothy Jermon, and Ruth Jordan. Sally Potts and Grace Faaet, graduated with honors. Dorothy I. Puder, and Grace Faaet received two of the four awards made to outstanding seniors.

BETA KAPPA The Thetas had just as much fun at all the rush parties as did the rushees, because the details of the parties were deep secrets known only to the different committees. Ring Ling county fair started festivities with a bang—everything from side-show freaks to fire works, with a set piece blazing K A Θ as the finale. Then two ideas received at convention met with success. Our Grand hotel party was grand from the bell hops to the dinner; and for preferred—a formal wedding! And our sophistication only cracked when Mr and Mrs Kappa Alpha Theta ran out in a shower of rice, departing for their honeymoon. At our last three parties we were proud to have with us our District president, Mrs Stults.

Jean Trout graduated with general honors and departmental honors in economics, and also had the lead in the Senior play, Belinda.

Margaret Marshall, as well as being a 1932 Quax yearbook beauty, is the editor of the 1933 Quax, an honor received by few women.

This summer we had a meeting every week while we did some intensive rushing, moved into our new house, lacquered the bedroom furniture black, and made living room drapes and frilly curtains.

Frances Morehouse was one of the lucky six to be initiated at convention; Gretchen Utterback and Jane Alexander were at the Olympics. We had the pleasure of meeting Helen Morrow, Mu, who spent a few days in Des Moines en route home from convention.

BETA MU Commencement seems a
Nevada long time ago, but the services of May 9, will not be forgotten quickly by Beta Mu. The highest honors possible for women all went to Thetas. The gold medal, awarded to the student having the highest scholarship for all four years, went to Margaret Fuller. The Albert Senior public service award, presented to the senior who is adjudged as most outstanding in character and service to the college, was presented to Marian Nichols. The Lewis D. Fulton scholarship was won by Katherine Wright. Thetas graduating were Beatrice Patterson, Josephine Bernard, Margaret Ede, Margaret Fuller, Berry McAnally, Jean Zuick, Marian Nichols.

A senior breakfast was given Commencement morning, at which took place the traditional "scholarship signing." Those girls who make the college honor roll sign our scholarship book. Those to enter their names this year are Theresa Jauregui, Margaret Fuller, Margaret Martin, Elsie Seaborn.

We have just completed a red letter rushing season. The parties were unusually clever and successful. The first one had a Wild West theme, and went off with lots of spirit. The second party had a hotel theme: the house was decorated to represent a hotel with the living room as a lobby, and the porch closed off for the registration desk, the masterpiece of the day was the chapter room decorated as a fern room, even supplied with an artistic fountain. Our last party was a semi-formal English tea. We felt properly rewarded when we won twenty pledges: Lois Midgley, Genevieve Wakefield, Clara Willison, Margaret Copren, Violet Robelete, Catherine Dondero, Florence Kirkley, Dorothy Phillips, Betty Horton, Lorraine Johnson, Mary Tholl, Gwen Doten, Helen Lewis, Ruth Lyons, Mary Fulton, Julia Sibley, Eleanor Fisher, Cornelia Arentz, Paula Bradshaw, Frances Slaven, and Mary Eleanor Underwood.

We are deeply indebted to our alumnae for their loyal assistance in rushing, particularly to Mrs Roy V. Reppy, Phi, who has given us several pieces of furniture for our living room, library and patio.

To prevent the deadly "after pledging let-down," Beta Xi has scheduled afternoon tea in honor of pledges every afternoon for the first two weeks, and about once a month thereafter, to which they are encouraged to invite their campus friends.

Theta is proud of Betty Prettyman, president of Associated women students, member of Prytanean, Agathai, and Tick tock—all honorary organizations for women. Jane Rooney is president of Tick tock; to which Marion Davies, Yvonne Garnier, Jean Adair Willard, and Adele Zerweck have all been elected. Katherine Landon and Jane Ebersole are members of Spurs. Jean Armstrong and Katherine Landon are members of Boots, riding club. Marion Davies, Beta Xi's versatile rush captain, is a member of junior council. Olivia Redwine is on sophomore council. Susan Hunter, last year's president, is doing clinical work in the psychology department and will be pledge trainer. Yvonne Garnier is president of Le Cercle Francais and secretary of Pi Delta Phi. Theta too is making the best of Yvonne's unusual executive ability—she is chapter president.

We miss keenly the girls who were unable to come back this semester. Some graduated, some have entered specialized schools, some are in business, and three of our favorites have married! Depression? Pooh!

At our Panhellenic tea September 23, a rushee said to a Theta, "Your sorority house is just new, isn't it?" In spite of the fact that it is over a hundred years old one could hardly blame her for thinking it new, for during the summer it was painted white and the shutters green, giving it a "brand new" air. The interior has also been redecorated, chairs painted or upholstered, and the curtains so clean and prim. We have our town alumnae, who spoil us dreadfully, to thank for all this.

We dropped from third to sixth in scholarship, but we're going to try to show our appreciation by climbing back up to first.

The seniors who graduated are Ruth Arnold; Frances Guckert, attending Western Reserve; Frances Hutchinson, our former president, teaching; Barbara Jones; Margaret Lepper; Juliette Spencer, attending Ohio State; and Marjory Stevens, studying organ in Dayton. Others who did not return are Eunice Adams, attending University of Cincinnati; Beth Brower; Marjory Cherney, and Esther Simon, attending Western Reserve; Jean Forrest; Eleanor Hunter, teaching; Betty Knapp, assisting in a dentist's office; Sarah Page at Nebraska university; Marjory Smythe at Moser; Dorothy Reed; Katherine Roderick, studying stenography; and Helen Weitzel.

Members of Beta Tau elected to women's senior honorary, Cap and gown, are Kathryn Braunschweiger, Frances Pease, and Mary Sweet. Those elected to junior women's honorary, Crossed keys, are Barbara Shepard and Esther Simon. Sally Menaul and Hazel Phillips were elected to Phi society, junior organization of Phi Beta Kappa.

The three pledges who made their grades second semester are Helen Hess, Marjorie Lohr, and Ruth Dicie White.

British Columbia

April 25 and 27. On account of the size of the preliminary rushing list we decided to divide it into two sections in order that we might really meet the rushees. Consequently two picnics at Crescent Beach concluded our Spring rushing.

May 11. The chapter's farewell (so-called) to the graduating class took the form of a breakfast given at the Georgia hotel prior to the graduating exercises. Those leaving were presented with flowers. We are especially proud of Patricia Harvey, vice-president of the year, and Mary Dooley, its secretary; also Katherine Lee, who won her fourth successive scholarship in Commerce. Nine girls received their degree: Dorothy Barrow, Margaret Bird, Mary Dooley, Patricia Harvey, Katherine Lee, Margaret MacLeod, Margaret McNicol, Marjory Scott, Frances Tremagne.

May 14. We chose a house at Crescent Beach for our annual camp. Perhaps the most outstanding event of our two weeks there was an informal dance.

May 11-September 26. With the closing of Varsity summer rushing rules began, consequently there have been no large entertainments since camp. Each individual member has, however, had her time fairly well occupied with personal rushing, which is within the campus regulations. September 27. The first of our two fall rushing parties is to be a treasure hunt. October 11. For our final entertainment before bidding the alumnae are giving a formal dinner.

The possibility of a chapter house instead of a chapter room has been, and is being, discussed. This session the four out-of-town members have made arrangements to stay at the same house, and we hope to have our chapter room there also. This is a step at any rate towards a Theta house in British Columbia.

Sheila Tait is the present wearer of the ring presented by the alumnae for scholarship.

BETA PSI
McGill

After examinations last May, Beta Psi scattered rapidly for the five-month vacation. Marguerite Bieler prepared to attend convention in Colorado. Naomi Jackson went over to study at Heidleberg. Frances Stephens went to England and Anne Barnes went to Bermuda. The fraternity apartment was sub-let for the summer.

College reopened September 29, and Beta Psi was sorry to lose Rose Stuart who proceeded to the University of Chicago for work there.

This letter is written on the eve of rushing week at McGill. Pat O'Reilly has come down from Sigma chapter to help us rush. Mrs. Kircher has generously offered to plan all the catering; and there is a busy week of open rushing ahead.

As the examination results for last spring were exceptionally favorable for all members, studying will probably be suspended for this period. Both Marguerite Bieler and Naomi Jackson are carrying scholarships over this year, and Gwen Hall has written scholarship exams this fall, the results of which are not yet posted.

Undergraduate loans: For information regarding undergraduate loans, and application blanks, address the corresponding secretary, Helen Pratt.

Graduate grants: For information regarding fellowships, address Washington, D.C. alumnae chapter.

Loans are made for $50 and larger amounts. Interest is 4 per cent payable annually. Security is required, i.e. endorsement of note by two financially responsible parties. Loans are payable within two years after the beneficiary has left college. Payments may be made in monthly installments. A personal letter explaining fully any unusual circumstances will greatly assist the committee in a prompt consideration of an application for a loan.

All checks, whether for interest, loans, or gifts to the Fund, should be made payable to Los Angeles alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta and sent to the Financial secretary, Miss Ray Hanna, 3718 W. 21st st. Los Angeles, Calif.

A gift to the Fund is a gift to Kappa Alpha Theta in perpetuity. It is never spent; it will come in and go out innumerable times; and its value to the present and future members and to the fraternity as a whole is incalculable.

RECOMMENDED HOTELS

ALUMNAE chapters recommend these hotels or clubs throughout the United States for the use of traveling Thetas. In these hotels a register or index of the Thetas resident in those cities is maintained, such register being available for use by fraternity guests. We trust that our members will avail themselves of the plan, will find the recommended hotels satisfactory, and the plan will bring Thetas together to their mutual satisfaction and enjoyment.
